

We've got nothing against Bintray but.... Cloudsmith is the only cloud-native, universal package management solution, allowing your organization to create, store and share packages in any format, to any place, with total confidence.

Still wondering how exactly we stack up? In addition to us being around for years to come, here's a little look into exactly what we offer...

Cloudsmith is entirely collaboration-centric

Rather than a standalone tool that works solely around individual access, we provide a space for you to continue working as a team (or multiple teams!) and easily continue your workflow without restriction.

We mean it when we say we're completely global

Rather than instance-based or on-premises solutions, we operate a global content delivery network optimized to ensure lightning fast delivery to anywhere. Bring packages close with regional storage and configurable edge caching.

Better solution for vendors

Cloudsmith was built with vendors in mind. Armed with the tools and seamless integrations needed to make selling and distributing your software easier, we've built everything from advanced entitlement controls to token-specific reports just for you.

RELIABLE, FAST GLOBAL DISTRIBUTION

"We were in a pinch: our customers were justifiably angry with us because the service we were managing was unreliable. Our paid NPM registry was a mess. But with Cloudsmith we were able to seamlessly transition to their platform and immediately provide a rock-solid upgrade to every customer we have"

- Rob Madole, Senior Software Engineer, Font Awesome
